Inspiring Promoting Supporting

Inmans curriculum is an enquiry-based curriculum which engages pupils - actively involving them in their learning, developing understanding and ensures all achieve.

Inmans curriculum follows the National Curriculum. It is relevant to the pupils and will ensure that skills are progressive and that children will be challenged and be able to retain for the next step in their learning.

The curriculum has been developed by staff, pupils and governors to ensure that it is relevant and engaging. Each enquiry focuses on specific knowledge and skills. Whilst the knowledge base is the same across the year group, the skills are differentiated to provide challenge and progression.

Learning philosophy – promoting confidence, resilience, aspirations and effective communication.

First quality teaching – all teachers engage, inspire and support children.

Inclusion for all – regardless of age, gender, race, religion or ability.

Safeguarding well-being

Place in the world – provide experiences and develop pupils' sense of role and belonging as part of the school family, local community and wider world.

Life-long learning – promoting the importance of continued learning
